Manager’s description:
Allesley Hall is a care home near Coventry with a remarkable range of activities. With befriending, games of chess and bingo, an annual Fun Day and council-backed summer events such as public band performances in the garden, there is always plenty going on, and volunteers are always being sought to enhance residents’ experiences further.

Allesley Hall opens to the public during the national Heritage Weekend when visitors can view an 18th century brick-built dovecote (once housing over 500 birds) and the garden’s rare trees – including an ancient yew reputed to be over 1,200 years old.

The present building was operated as a convalescent home in the 1940s and in 1990 was renovated and re-opened as a nursing home for 45 people. It was transferred to MHA in 2005.
