Manager’s description: Beech house was purpose built in 1968 to offer residential care to older people and is within 5 minutes walking distance of local facilities. The home is in the small market town of Halesworth in rural Suffolk midway between Ipswich and Norwich and is close to the East Suffolk coastal towns of Southwold and Lowestoft. Halesworth is an historic town offering a pedestrianised shopping centre, a train station and good public and community bus links to all the major towns.

On entering Beech House you are greeted with a light, fresh, friendly and homely atmosphere. Residents have the choice to seek informal company in our communal sitting rooms or choose to stay within their own rooms or alternatively use the quiet sitting areas around Beech House for more private times. Relatives are encouraged to visit and again can use the quiet sitting areas if they wish.
