Manager’s description: When MHA took over the management of Rushden Park in 2001, only a few residents were yet living there, the Home having opened only the year before. It had been built on two floors, with lounges and dining rooms on each floor. The Home has been designed with a view to offering some dementia care and palliative care, and an overall ability to cater for 64 residents. It is situated in a quiet area near the edge of Rushden and has enclosed landscaped gardens that offer a safe space for residents, as well as a resting place for much local wildlife.

Since Rushden Park came under MHA management, and numbers have grown, regular worship services within the Home have been increasingly well attended. Initially they were conducted in one of the lounges, with a possible group of five to ten attending. Now, the service has had to be transferred into a dining room for additional space and often there are more than 24 residents in attendance – a rate of growth for which many church congregations would be grateful.
